LIFE IN LIBRAS - SignWriting - Writing of Signs

TV INES

Libras is a spatial-visual language and many people know that. However, it has a written version not so widespread in Brazil. SignWriting (or Sign Writing) was created by an American dancer who wanted to “write” her choreographies, but ended up attracting the attention of sign language researchers, soon gaining versions in more than 50 countries. They are designed signs that perfectly represent the signs in Libras, configuring a record of the communication of the Deaf as an alternative to video and written Portuguese.
